FRAMES REPLY TO PLEA OF RAIL UNIONS

President is Expected to Declare He Will Not Intercede in Dispute

STATEMENT LACKING

Washington Officials Fear Men Will Yield to Radicals' Influence—Hope Conservative Will Hold Men.

Washington, Feb. 5.—President Wilson is expected to send to the railroad brotherhoods today his answer to their telegraphic request to intercede in the controversy now raging between the railroad operators and employes before the Railroad Labor Board.

While no statement has been forthcoming from the White House, it is understood that he will inform the railway employes that in the Transportation act Congress definitely provided for the settlement of all such disputes as has precipitated a crisis.

In three telegrams to the President requesting an investigation of the operators demand that national agreements be abrogated and they be permitted to reduce wages for certain classes of work, the employes asserted that the railroads were mulcting the public and were not warranted in reducing wages.

De Witt Cuyler, representing the employers, in a telegram to the Chief Executive declared that the employes in their telegrams were circulating Plumb plan propaganda and were guilty of gross misstatements of facts.

In his answer today the President is expected to inform both the employes and the operators that he will not intercede for either side with the Railroad Labor Board and will point out that in the Transportation act Congress provided that all questions of wages, working conditions and such subjects should be settled by the Labor Board and that all questions of rates and similar matters should be handled by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The decision of either board, under the transportation act is final and is not subject to revision by any authority other than the Supreme Court of the United States.

Officials here are alarmed over the probability that when the President's telegram is made public the employes will follow the urgings of radical leaders and emulate the example set last year in Chicago, when thousands of employes participated in an outlaw strike and for a time threatened seriously to tie up transportation systems.

These officials, however, are hopeful that the conservative leaders will be able to hold the men in line until a definite conclusion has been reached by the labor board.

HARDING RESUMES VOYAGE UP RIVER

Palm Beach, Fla, Feb. 5.—After a five hour stop at Palm Beach, President-elect Harding's houseboat Victoria headed up the Indian River yesterday afternoon for a virtually uninterrupted run to St. Augustine, where the President elect will spend most of February.

With her arrival here the Victoria had passed the worst part of her course up the coast, and her skipper said he looked for no more trouble from mud reefs which have delayed the boat during the past two days. If she has good luck, she probably will reach Daytona or Ormond Sunday and pull into St. Augustine some time Monday.

The members of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew of Christ Church have inaugurated a campaign to increase attendance at the Sunday evening services at the church, endeavoring to reach the four hundred mark by February 20.

Cards are being distributed among the members and those affiliated with Christ Church inviting them to attend services and bring a friend. The attendance has doubled since the campaign started and will doubtless reach the desired goal, through the earnest efforts of its members.

Ash Wednesday services will be held at Christ Church at 11 a. m., and the first afternoon Lenten service at 5 p. m., Friday.

The Right Reverend William Cabell Brown, D. D., Bishop of Virginia, will visit Christ Church and confirm a class of candidates on Tuesday, in Holy Week, March 22.

BRITAIN ASKED U.S. TO CANCEL DEBTS

Suggestion Was Rejected, Chancellor of Exchequer Reveals

PROPOSALS ARE OFF

Announcement Made in Speech to Birmingham Voters—Treasury Officials Silent.

Birmingham, England, Feb. 5.—The British Government formally proposed a cancellation of all inter-Allied debts, but the proposals were unacceptable to the American Government said J. Austen Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer, in a speech to his constituents here yesterday.

"To make them again," Mr. Chamberlain continued, "would be, I think beneath our dignity and would render us liable to a misconception of our motive.

"In making them," he added, "we sought no national advantage for ourselves. We proposed a solution in which we should have foregone claims larger than any remitted to us, and we proposed it because we believe it would be in the interests of good relations among peoples, the rehabiliation of national credit and the restoration of international trade.

"Our great international debt is due to the obligations we undertook on behalf of our Allies. If we had had only ourselves to consider we should have been particularly free of external debt at the present time."

Mr. Chamberlain prefaced his remarks by saying that he would have preferred at the close of the war that the whole Interallied debt had been wiped out, so as to start with a clean slate. There was no proposal for a settlement of the international debt among the Allied and associated powers, whether for a total or partial remission, which the British Government would not have been prepared to be a party to, he declared.

Washington, Feb. 5.—Treasury officials refused to comment last night on the statement of the British Chancellor of the Exchequer, J. Austen Chamberlain, in an address at Birmingham, England, that the United States Government refused to accept British Government proposals that the Interallied debts arising from the World War be canceled.

No mention has ever been made in official circles here of any proposal officially tendered by Great Britain for cancellation of the interallied debts, but it was recalled last night that Sir George Paish, the British financial expert, who visited the United States a year ago, put forward some such proposal while in this country. Sir George's mission was not regarded by the United States Government as official and consequently his proposal did not receive official consideration.

In fact, so far as could be learned last night, no officials here are aware that the British Government has ever through any official channel, proposed a remission or cancellation of the British war debt to the United States. Great Britain's indebtedness of about $4,000,000,000 is far larger than that of any other of the Allied countries, but this is explained by the fact that Great Britain herself was a creditor country and disbursed American funds to her other Allies.

When Senator Knox, of Pennsylvania, soon after President Wilson's return from Paris, introduced in the Senate a resolution proposing a remission of the indebtedness of all the Allied governments to the United States on the theory that the Allies had been greater sufferers from the war, British public opinion, as interpreted here, was quickly recorded as declining to accept any such remission.

Fire Destroys Georgia Hotel

Augusta, Ga., Feb. 5.—The Bon Air Hotel, winter home of many wealthy notables, was totally destroyed by fire early yesterday. Approximately 250 guests were forced to flee, scantily clad, losing all of their personal belongings.

The loss is estimated at nearly $800,000.

Cost $10 To Curse Cop

Jailed Because He Can't Resist Liquor—Sewer Case a Snag to Court—Auto Owners Forfeit

Cursing policemen in Alexandria is expensive. It cost a dealer in the city market the sum of $10 today for cursing Policeman Magner when the latter accosted the man regarding an alleged violation of the speed law.

"I plead guilty. I can't stand up since being overseas. My nerves are simply shot to pieces," declared a young white man when arraigned to answer a charge of tarrying too long with the wine. Policeman Bell arrested him yesterday. Thirty days was Justice Snow's sentence. A pitiful plea was made by the prisoner for another chance. The court, however, thought the Hotel Cox would be the best place to remain in order to lose his desire for liquor.

Several speeders and violators of the traffic laws arrested by Policemen Magner, Miller and Lawrence Padgett were cited to court but forfeited $5 collateral each. The automobilists continue to help the city treasury considerably for the fun they have in speeding.

The court struck a snag when it attempted to solve a sewer problem of three houses located on the west side of Alfred between Gibbon and Wilkes street. There was evidence about a sewer, a three foot alley, a survey, the right of one over the other and various others rights too numerous to mention. Two persons had been cited by the city health department. Attorneys H. N. Garner and C. H. Davis were on the scene. Admission that the court was stumped was made by Justice Snow and it is expected that the problem will be thrashed out by a civil court.

FORMER WAR LORD DONS CORDUROYS

Doorn, Holland, Feb. 5.—The former German Kaiser glimpsed yesterday as he shuffled through the grounds of his estate here, looked like a peasant.

Observers could scarcely reconcile the lines of the dropping and bedraggled figure with the strutting imperialist, arrayed in brilliant uniform and sparkling with polished metal.

What they saw was a stooped figure, clad in corduroys with the trousers about the knee. A dirty-hued gray sweater, the neck sagging under a straggly gray beard, completed the raiment. His hands were covered with white cotton gloves of the sort much used by laborers.

Sparks Cause Blaze

Fire in Field on Duke Street Extended at Noon Today

Sparks from a passenger train at noon today set fire to a pile of wheat straw in a field directly west of the residence of Mrs. Walter Roberts, 2600 Duke street, and destroyed a stack of straw in the center of the field. An alarm was sounded and Engine No. 5 and Motor Truck No. 1 responded and the firemen succeeded in preventing a spread of the fire to the adjoining property. They worked on the blaze about an hour. The firemen were commended for their excellent work by persons living in the vicinity of the blaze.

Washington, Feb. 5.—Speaker Gillett, Representative Bacharach, Republican, New Jersey, and ex-Speaker Champ Clark, committee of the House in general charge of the House and of the Capitol, are looking into reports of disorder and bootlegging in the House Office Building. They are said to be contemplating drastic measures to stop it.

MORTALITY HIGH ON BOTTLE FED KIDS

Health Officer Foulks Favors Mother's Breast Nursing

SAYS WE PAY PRICE

Nothing He Says Can Take Place of Nature—Thousands Sent to Untimely Graves

"It is a noted and I might say a notorious fact that thousands of helpless infants are sent to untimely graves annually, because their mothers decline to assume their natural duty to nurse them at the breast," Says City Health Officer Dr. Louis E. Foulks. Some mothers refuse to nurse their babies because it would interfere with their business or social duties, while others simply don't want the bother. Some years ago in discussing this matter with a fashionable young mother, I asked her to frankly give me her reasons for not nursing her baby, and she said: 'Well doctor, in the first place, why should I turn myself into a cow when there is no use in my doing so?" "Then what are all of the patent, scientific baby foods made for, if they are not for us mothers to use? Why should I let my baby drain my strength and take hours of my time daily, when I can turn it over to the nurse, who can feed it on cow's milk or patent food which will answer just as well as if I fed it at my breast?"

Yes, that is just what she told me, and she was perfectly honest about it! But that is rather an extreme case, and I thank the Lord that all mothers don't have her point of view. Neither cow's milk nor any patent baby food, no matter how scientifically it may be prepared, can possibly take the place of natural mother's milk. Of course, many babies have to take such food and they manage to live through it, but it is just as well to note the simple fact that many don't! The mortality rate of bottle-fed babies is very high.

It is true that many mothers are physically unable to furnish breast milk to their babies, but why is this so? It is a rare thing, indeed to find in nature the female of any form of animal life that nurses its young, unable to furnish a full and ample supply of milk. And why is this true? It is because they are normal and healthy, and live, and have for generations lived, more in accordance with the simple laws of nature.

The modern human beings, both male and female, are far from the natural normal type they should be. We have become creatures of social customs, fads and fancies, but we pay the price in more ways than one!

It is the birthright of every baby to be nursed at its mother's breast. If through sickness or physical defects the mother is unable to furnish milk, she should have our sympathy. But if she fails to do so for personal selfish reasons, she should be looked upon as one who has shirked the most solemn duty of motherhood. When a child is brought into this world, it has a moral right to a fair chance to live, and it is the sacred duty of those concerned in its being, to see that it has it. That beautiful picture of the old fashioned mother seated in the rocking chair, nursing her baby at her breast, is one that no artist ever did nor ever can do full justice to!

Once upon a time a celebrated horticulturist decided to improve a certain plant by intensive culture and special care. And when he had raised it almost up to the higher standard he had set, behold, it ceased to bear either fruit or flowers! Do you see the point?

POLICEMAN PROMOTED FOR KILLING BANDIT

Chicago, Feb. 5.—"He killed a hold up man, that's all I want to know. Whether it was by luck or design makes no difference to me," were the words of Chief of Police Fitzmorris, as he promoted Policeman Raddatz, of the Maxwell street station to a sergeantcy.

Raddatz killed a bandit after the latter had wounded another policeman in a gun battle at Halsted street and Roosevelt road Wednesday night.

Bavaria Refuses Demands of Allies to Disband Army

London, Feb. 5.—Dr. von Kahr, the Bavarian premier, has been directed by the Bavarian ministry to proceed to Berlin and advise the government there that the allied orders for disarmament, apart from their reparations decision, are not acceptable to Bavaria, according to a dispatch to the London Times from Berlin. This means, the dispatch asserts, that Bavaria refuses to disarm.

The Bavarian Courrier, the dispatch adds, declares that Bavaria will have nothing to do with any declaration jeopardizing the einwohnerwehr.

"NEVER WORRY," HEALTH PLAN OF WOMEN OF 99

Burlington, N. J., Feb. 5.—Miss Lydia Ann Hancock, member of a New Jersey family famous for its longevity, yesterday celebrated her ninety-ninth birthday at her home on York street. A brother and two sisters, all in their nineties, sent her greetings or called.

"Never worry! That's the best rule for good health and long life," said the remarkable old lady, speaking of a lifelong freedom from serious illness. "Even if the world is upside down with you underneath, don't worry. There's an overruling providence that somehow always smooths out all the perplexities."

Dishes, the mere thought of which make a dyspeptic groan, are among her favorites. She is as fond as a school girl of pie, cake and candy.

Miss Hancock is one of thirteen children. She was born near Burlington, in 1822, her parents being Samuel and Lydia Hancock. Her mother lived to be 91. More than seventy-five years ago Miss Hancock joined the First Baptist Church, of which she is now the oldest member.

THUGS SEARCH HOSIERY BANKS

Chicago, Feb. 5.—Not satisfied with obtaining $3,000 in jewelry and $162 in money from the man, two highwaymen who held up two women and a man on the north side of the city early yesterday morning, stood off the man with guns while one of the robbers searched the "lisle thread banks" of the women.

The thieves failed to get anything more, and also overlooked a diamond ring which one of the women had the quick wit to drop behind her when the outlaws approached.

Good News for our Merchants

Glad tidings come by every mail to the GAZETTE

Our exchanges from all over the country are filled with editorials and interviews with the leaders of finance and business that are without a single exception, optimistic. The United States is on the eve of, perhaps the greatest business activity the country has ever seen. neither is it an abnormal wave nor an inflated boom. The conditions are healthy and natural. The manufacturer, the banker, the large distributor, importer and exporter, are alike in their predictions of good times ahead. A period of depression is inevitable after a great war. This period has been weathered with less distress than at any time in our history.

Advice From Headquarters.

One of the leading financiers of the country advises against idle waiting for the public to resume active buying. He urges business men to stimulate purchasing by reduced prices, based on keener efficiency in production and the acceptance of reasonable margins of profit. They all say labor is showing a tendency to become more efficient and more willing to accept some equitable liquidation of inflated wages. But at the same time they caution against unfair attempts on the part of employes to unduly depress the wage situation. They emphasize the fact that progressive readjustment, working toward better times, is now effective among the great majority of producers. Labor is more balanced, competition fairer and more reasonable, and the natural law of supply and demand once again assuming its proper sphere. On the whole, everything points to a tremendous activity in business, and the wise merchant will set his sails accordingly.

Spanish For Young Men and Women.

A novel idea has just been inaugurated at the University of Virginia. A Spanish House will be opened for dormitory, class rooms and recreation purposes, in connection with the work of the University Summer Quarter, as announced by Dean Charles Gilmore Maphis. For this purpose, St. Elmo Hall, now occupied by the Delta Phi fraternity, will be used, and for three months students will resolve themselves into a Spanish family, conversing and even thinking in this language, in order to perfect themselves in it during an intensive period of study. There are dormitory accommodations in the house for twenty-five, and these will be reserved for women. Study, reading and recreation privileges will be open to 200 students of both sexes. Four Spanish instructors will conduct daily classes, coach the students, and insist that Spanish be spoken at table.

This ought to interest some of our younger Alexandrians. The time may come when our city will again do business with Latin America!

On Saturday, January 29th, the boys of Alexandria High defeated the boys basket ball team of Warrenton High in an unusually rough game. The Alexandrians were at a very bad disadvantage on account of the small floor. Midkiff was Alexandria's best worker while Thomn played a good game for the losers. Final score 19 to 17. On this same night, the Alexandria girls met the first defeat of the season, at the hands of the Warrenton girls. Misses Dienelt, Adams and Wattles played a great game for Alexandria, but the Warrenton girls came out victors by a very small margin. Final score 22 to 19.

On Monday (Jan. 31st) school reopened after examinations and every student started on the last lap enthusiastically. Thursday the seniors defeated the sophomores in the third game of the girls inter-class series. This was an exceptionally fast game, Miss Adams played her usual good game, not to mention "Skeets." Miss Baumgardner, for the "Sophs," also played a great game. Final score 25 to 23.

On Friday the student body was treated with a treat that is rare. This treat was in the form of a program rendered by the faculty. The title was "A Model School." Miss Ficklin was teacher, Prof. "Sayswhich" Lindsey was chief bad boy, while "Hepzibah" Garvin was model bad girl, the rest of the faculty were there but these were the worst. The main thing proved was, Prof. Lindsey proved himself to be a "block head." He will also prove that you are one. Ask him for the proof. Every one enjoyed it and we wish them to give us another soon.

Friday night the A. H. S. girls met and completely vanquished the Fredericksburg team. Misses Dienelt and Adams played a great game, ably supported by Misses Paff and Davis. Final score 36 to 6.

Immediately following the girls victory, Mr. Haydon turned Capt. "Turrble" Dyson's team on the Fredericksburg boys. Dyson starred until the first team was put in, in the last half. The second team held them to a tie in the first half. The first team when put in quickly ran the score up and held it there. The Fredericksburg team played well for the first of their season. Final score 22 to 7.

The boys play John Marshall High in Richmond today. The girls play Petersburg High in Petersburg tonight. Next week's games will be announced later.

SPORTS

DREADNAUGHTS WIN AGAIN

The fast going Dreadnaughts defeated the Quantico Marines last night in the Armory before a small crowd by the score of 34 to 27. The game was fast from start to finish and the fans claim that it was the best game of the season. The Leathernecks after a three point defeat by the Richmond aggregation two days previous came here strong, expecting to defeat the home boys, but they met their Waterloo in that fast going bunch of goal tossers. The home-boys started the scoring, Alexander, the Big D forward coming across with two baskets in rapid succession the beginning of the game and his team was never headed, but being pushed strong at every minute of the game. The passing of the Leathernecks was great, but they were off in shooting, and that caused their defeat. The guarding of T. Hayden and Roberts was good as usual, holding their opponents at all times. Williams relieved T. Hayden in the second half and after twelve minutes of play gave way to E. Hayden, on account of sore arms, which handicapped the stellar goal tosser considerable. Alexander led his team in swing, making nineteen points, Dreifus with 8, Beaton with 5 and Roberts 2. Nothing can be said of any individual of the Leathernecks, the whole team played a great game. Next Wednesday night the Dreadnaughts will journey to Quantico and play the Marines a return game, leaving on the 5:17 out of Alexandria and it is hoped that a few fans will accompany the team. The next game will probably be Tuesday night in Alexandria, and it is hoped that a large crowd will be in attendance. If the sporting public of Alexandria will not patronize our winning team, the manager of the home club is figuring seriously in calling off all games on the home floor. Come out strong you fans and keep the sport at home and encourage the athletes of your good old town.

Monday night at 6:30 the basketball team will practice and Captain request all candidates to attend.

An important meeting of the Dreadnaught A. C. will be held Monday night at 7:30, which time the officers will be elected for the year 1921, and all the members are requested to attend.

SCHAFE—In sad but loving remembrance of our dear husband and father, who died six years ago today, February 5, 1915.

Though suffering, he breathed not a murmur,
For the Comforter stood by his side,
And whispered, "Fear not, I am with thee,
With me shalt thou ever abide."
O'er the river the pale boatman hastened,
He heard the soft dip of his oar,
Then from earth and its sorrows he bore him
Across to the beautiful shore.

IN MEMORIAM

In sad but loving remembrance of my wife, JULIA E. SIMPSON, whom God called one year ago tomorrow, February 6th, 1920.

In the graveyard silently sleeping,
Where the flowers wave,
Lies the one I loved so dearly,
In her cold and silent grave.
She is gone, but not forgotten,
Never shall her memory fade,
Sweetest thoughts shall always linger
Around the spot where she is laid.
One year has passed dear wife I miss you,
Friends may think the wound is healed,
But they do not know the sorrow
That lies within my heart concealed.

FOR THE GAZETTE'S LITTLE FOLKS

The Knight Forsakes Una

The next morning at daybreak the Knight awoke, sad and unrested after the unpleasant dreams that had come to him in the night. He did not know he had been asleep; he thought the things that troubled him had really happened.

It was scarcely dawn when Archimago rushed up to him in a state of pretended sorrow and indignation.

"The Lady Una has left you," said this wicked man. "She is not good as she pretends to be. She cares nothing at all for you, nor for the noble work on which you are bound, and she does not mean to go any further with you on your toilsome journey."

The Red Cross Knight started up in anger. This was like his dream, and he knew not what was true nor what was false.

"Come," said Archimago, "see for yourself."

He pointed to a figure in the distance whom the Knight took to be Una. Then, indeed, he was forced to believe what the wicked magacian told him. He now took for granted that Una had been deceiving him all along, and had seized this moment to escape. He forgot all her real sweetness and goodness and beauty; he only thought how false and unkind she was. He was filled with anger, and he never paused a moment to reflect if there could be any possibility of mistake. Calling his servant, he bade him bring his horse at once, and then these two immediately set forth again on their journey.

Here the Red Cross Knight was wrong, and we shall see presently into what perils and misfortunes he fell because of his hasty want of faith. If he had had a little patience he would soon have discovered that the figure he saw was only a dressed-up imitation. The real Lady Una at this time was sleeping quietly in her own bower.

When she awoke and found that her two companions had fled in the night and left her alone behind, she was filled with grief and dismay. She could not understand why they should do such a thing. Mounting her white donkey, she rode after them with all the speed she could, but the Knight had urged on his steed so fast it was almost useless to try to follow. Yet she never stayed to rest her weary limbs, but went on seeking them over hill and dale, and through wood and plain, sorely grieved in her tender heart that the one she loved best should leave her with such ungentle discourtesy.

When the wicked Archimago saw that his cunning schemes had succeeded so well he was greatly pleased, and set to work to devise fresh mischief. It was Una whom he chiefly hated, and he took great pleasure in her many troubles, for hypocrisy always hates real goodness. He had the power of turning himself into any shape he chose—sometimes he would be a fowl, sometimes a fish, now like a fox, now like a dragon. On the present occasion, to suit his evil purpose, it seemed to him to put on the appearance of the good knight whom he had so cruelly beguiled.

Therefore, Hypocrisy dressed himself up in imitation armour with a silver shield and everything exactly like the Red Cross Knight. When he sat upon his fiery charger he looked such a splendid warrior you would have thought it was St. George himself.

Holiness Fights Faithless

The true St. George, meanwhile, had wandered far away. Now that he had left the Lady Una, he had nothing but his own will to guide him, and he no longer followed any fixed purpose.

Presently he saw coming to meet him another warrior, fully armed. He was a great, rough fellow, who cared nothing for God or man; across his shield, in gay letters, was written "Sans Foy," which means Faithless.

He had with him a companion, a handsome lady, dressed all in scarlet, trimmed with old and rich pearls. She rode a beautiful palfrey, with gay trappings, and little gold bells tinkled on her bridle. The two came along laughing and talking, but when the lady saw the Red Cross Knight, she left off her mirth at once, and bade her companion attack him.

Then the two knights levelled their spears, and rushed at each other. But when Faithless saw the red cross graven on the breastplate of the other, he knew that he could never prevail against that safeguard. However, he fought with great fury, and the Red Cross Knight had a hard battle before he overcame him. At last he managed to kill him, and he told his servant to carry away the shield of Faithless in token of victory.

When the lady saw her companion fall, she fled in terror; but the Red Cross Knight hurried after her, and bade her stop, telling her that she had nothing now to fear. His brave and gentle heart was full of pity to see her in so great distress, and he asked her to tell him who she was, and who was the man that had been with her.

Melting into tears, she then told him the following sad story:—She said that she was the daughter of an emperor, and had been engaged to marry a wise and good prince. Before the wedding day, however, the prince fell into the hands of his foes, and was cruelly slain. She went out to look for his body, and in the course of her wandering met the Saracen knight, who took her captive. "Sans Foy" was one of three bad brothers. The names of the others were "Sans Loy," which means Lawless, and "Sans Joy," which Joyless. She further said that her own name was "Fidessa," or True Religion, and she besought the Knight to have compassion on her, because she was so friendless and unhappy.

"Fair lady," said the Knight, "a heart of flint would grieve to hear of your sorrows. But henceforth rest safely assured that you have found a new friend to help you, and lost an old foe to hurt you. A new friend is better than an old foe."

Then the seemingly simple maiden pretended to look comforted, and the two rode on happily together.

But what the lady had told about herself was quite untrue. Her name was not "Fidessa" at all, but "Duessa", which means False Religion. If Una had still been with the Knight, he would never have been led astray; but when he parted from her he had nothing but his own feelings to guide him. He still meant to do right, but he was deceived by his false companion, who brought him into much trouble and danger.

(To be continued next Saturday)

MAIL THIEVES STEAL $100,000

St. Louis, Feb. 5.—Willis H. Thornhill, a mail messenger, reported to the police last night that he was held up at St. Charles, 20 miles west of here, by five men, who kidnaped him and stole a registered pouch, said to contain approximately $100,000, which was to have been put aboard a train for shipment to St. Louis.

ATTRACTION

The stranger in New York will notice at intervals during his walk down the principal streets small groups of people craning their necks trying to find what is in the center of the group. Sometimes as many as a hundred persons will stop and look. In a short while most of these persons move on not a bit wiser as to the cause of their aroused curiosity.

There is printed matter like this. One is attracted to it and after gazing at it and examining it is left without any idea what it is all about. Either writer or printer has failed in his task.

It is all right to attract, but after the attention is caught, the facts must be presented clearly or the prospect is lost.

VIRGINIA NEWS

Richmond, Feb. 5.—State Senator E. Lee Trinkle, candidate for Governor, appeared before the State Corporation Commission yesterday and appealed for a ruling of lower power rates to the National Carbide Company of Pulaski from the Appalachain Power Company.

Senator Trinkle contended that the present rate was unreasonable and threatening to drive his clients out of business, thus scrapping an investment of $800,000. Testimony to this effect was introduced by J. V. O'Daniel, an official of the carbide company.

The present rate is on a sliding scale, ranging from three-tenths of a cent upward. John S. Draper, of Richmond, is associated with Senator Trinkle in handling the case, and Robert E. Scott, of Richmond, is representing the power company at the hearing.

Richmond, Feb. 5.—Domestic animals on farms in Virginia have decreased 3.3 per cent in numbers and 21.3 per cent in value during the past year, according to the annual live stock report issued by the Richmond office of the Bureau of Crop Estimates, United States Department of Agriculture yesterday.

The report which was compiled by Henry M. Taylor, agricultural statistician, shows that there were 3,151,000 domestic animals on Virginia farms on January 1, 1921, with a total value of $105,021,000, compared with 3,257,000 animals valued at $135,592,000 last year.

The greatest reduction has been in the number of hogs, which are estimated to be 1,026,000 this year against 1,115,000 in 1920, a decrease of 8 per cent. Mules, milk cows and sheep showed no change from last year but horses have decreased three per cent and cattle one per cent during the year.

During the past four years there has been a gradual increase in the number of all stock, except horses and mules, which reached their maximum number in 1919. The downward tendency of values is attributed to low prices prevailing in the live stock markets, the value per head of all stock being lower than at any time since 1917.

For January, 1912, there were 351,000 horses in Virginia with a total value of $33,696,000; 65,000 mules valued at $5,190,000; 428,000 milk cows valued at $25,172,000; 567,000 other cattle valued at $20,900,000; 714,000 sheep valued at $5,355,000; and 1,625,000 hogs valued at $11,799,000.

Richmond, Feb. 5.—Governor Davis has refused to pardon M. H. Hatcher, of Danville, indicted for violating prohibition laws but who skipped his bail and is now in Baltimore, it became known yesterday. Friends of Hatcher are said to have brought strong influence to bear on the Governor to secure executive clemency but without avail.

Richmond, Feb. 5.—State Senator J. E. Wear, of Norfolk, candidate for lieutenant governor, was a caller yesterday at the capitol. He stated that he has opened headquarters at Suffolk and is planning an active campaign throughout the state.

IN MEMORIAM

In sad but loving remembrance of our dear son, CLARENCE E. WOOLLS, who died 3 years ago today, February 5, 1918.

In a graveyard softly sleeping,
Where the flowers gently wave,
Lies the one I loved so dearly
And prayed for God to save.
Days of sadness still come over me,
Hidden tears so often flow,
Memory keeps him ever near me,
Though he died three years ago.

SIMPSON—In sad but loving remembrance of our dear sister JULIA E. WELSH SIMPSON, who died one year ago February 6, 1920.

To his home of eternal rest.
She did not have a word to say,
She could not say good-bye,
She calmly slept herself away,
In Jesus' arms she died.

To Gas Consumers

We desire to inform the public that owing to some very necessary repairs to our plant, it will be necessary for us to reduce the supply of gas about one-half for a period of three or four days. We, therefore, ask our patrons to be kind enough to economize their consumption of gas for that period.

We take pleasure in adding that our new machinery is on the way, and will arrive shortly. Upon the completion of its installation, we assure the public that they will have an up-to-date gas plant with the most modern and economic appliances for the manufacture of the best grade of gas. With the new machinery the plant will be ample for the needs of Alexandria for the next ten years.

The present repairs will be completed in three or four days, as stated, and we ask the indulgence of the public for that period, and assure them of our hearty appreciation of their co-operation.

PARIS SPRING HATS HAVE HIGH CROWNS, WIDE BRIMS

Paris, Feb. 5.—High dome-shaped crowns and large, wide-sweeping brims are the prominent features of the new spring fashion in hats in Paris. The smaller toques have a wide brim folded upwards with tall turban effect.

Ragged trimmings and a fringe of osprey or a long fluffy silk tassel are to be seen on some. A little foliage and a curious new flower of cubist lines have supplanted the usual artificial flowers. Black is the favorite color for spring hats.

AN ALEXANDRIA INTERVIEW

Mrs. Nalls Tells Her Experience

The following brief account of an interview with an Alexandria woman four years ago, and its equal, will be read with keen interest by every citizen:

Mrs. L. C. [illegible], Alexandria, says: "I could [illegible] get around the house my back [illegible] so weak and sore. [illegible] when I got down it was almost impossible to straighten up. At night I couldn't rest at night and nights I felt so weak and tired all over it was hard [illegible] do to dress. My kidneys acted irregularly and caused me a great deal of misery. My head ached a great deal. It was a dull, steady pain. I got Doan's Kidney Pills at Summers' Drug Store and the first box did me so much good I got another. My back stopped aching and my kidneys haven't caused me any trouble since.

Mrs. Nalls gave the above statement on April 10, 1916, and on March 15, 1917, she added: "I was pretty well off with kidney trouble and nothing helped me the way Doan's Kidney Pills did. Doan's are the best kidney remedy I know of."

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

ANNOUNCEMENT!

Mr. Edsel B. Ford, President of the Ford Motor Company, gives out the following statement:

"The price of the FORDSON Tractor has been reduced from $790.00 to $625.00, effective immediately.

"This price change has been made possible through lower costs of materials and the fact that we are now located in our new Tractor Plant with greatly increased economic manufacturing facilities in immediate connection with our foundry and machine shops and large blast furnaces where iron is poured directly from the ore, giving us maximum efficiency with the power to reduce cost of production, and down comes the price in line with our policy to market our products at the lowest possible figure without in any way affecting our high standard of quality.

"We are particularly pleased in being able to bring about this big reduction in price at this time because the farmer needs all the help we can give him and this big cut in price will be the means of placing a valuable power unit within the reach of practically every one of them, not to mention industrial and commercial concerns which likewise have benefitted through its use and are already realizing, to a much greater extent, its value as a power and hauling unit. But particularly has the FORDSON Tractor proved a most valuable factor in the saving of farm labor, at the same time increasing the per acre crop yield as well as making possible a utilization of previously uncultivated land, to say nothing of removing no end of drudgery.

"There is no question that the use of machine power on the farm is the greatest advancement made in the development of agriculture, not only in money saving and money making results, as well as raising the standards of living on the farm to a much higher level, but because of its proved value in making every type of land more productive, and consequently our desire to place the FORDSON within the reach of all.

"THERE IS NO CHANGE IN THE PRESENT FORD CAR AND TRUCK PRICES, which are already at the lowest possible figure and now with rock bottom reached on the tractor price a further reduction in price of either the car, truck or tractor is out of the question; in fact, the big price cuts have been made in anticipation of continuous maximum production and increases may be necessary before long if a large volume of new business is not obtained. Therefore, present prices of Ford products cannot be guaranteed against possible increases."

Ask for the book "The Fordson at Work," which will be supplied free of cost. Let us demonstrate the value of the Fordson on your farm, in your factory, lumber yard, coal yard, or in any general hauling or power work you have to do and let us have your order for a Fordson.
